- Natural product

ONE PRODUCT - THREE ACTIONS

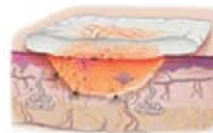

1) WOUND PROTECTION

- Decreases the susceptibility of wounds to cross infection, especially by antibiotic resistant strains of microorganisms
- Rapidly removes malodour
- Physical barrier created by high viscosity, which prevents cross infection of wounds

2) WOUND CLEANING

- Osmotic action of dressing helps lift debris from wound
- Removal of necrotic tissue
- Inhibition of slough formation

3) WOUND HEALING

- Maintains a moist wound-healing environment
- Encourages granulation and epithelialisation processes
- Non-adherence of dressing to wound
- Reduces risk of eschar formation

Antibacterial Wound Gel™

Medihoney™ Antibacterial Wound Gel™ contains Medihoney's standardised Antibacterial Medical Honey™

Antibacterial Wound Gel™ has been specially formulated with natural waxes and oils to provide a high viscosity gel that is easy to apply.

Medihoney™ Antibacterial Wound Gel™ can be used for both chronic and acute wounds. It provides a moist wound environment to assist in the healing of wounds and creates a barrier against wound bacteria.

Indications:

- Surgical wounds
- Acute & Chronic wounds
- Burns
- Leg/foot ulcers
- Donor and recipient graft sites
- Pressure ulcers
- General first aid

Serious wounds should be managed under the supervision of a health care professional

Wound care advantages :

- Provides an antibacterial barrier;
- Effective against various clinical strains including MRSA, MSSA, VRE, etc...
- Provides a moist wound environment;
- Fast, effective autolytic debriding action for the removal of slough and necrotic issue in an antibacterial environment;
- Rapidly removes malodour;
- Reduces the risk of infection;
- Non adherent thus reduces trauma and pain during dressing changes;
- Natural product.

Directions for use: Antibacterial Wound Gel™ should be applied liberally to prevent the wound fluid from excessively diluting the antibacterial effects of the product. It can be applied either directly to the wound or into a gauze dressing. A non-adherent gauze should be applied to cover the Medihoney™ Antibacterial Wound Gel™ with additional secondary dressings applied as required, dependent on wound fluid levels. The frequency of dressing changes will depend on how rapidly Medihoney™ Antibacterial Wound Gel™ is being diluted by fluids. Daily dressing changes are usual during the initial stages of wound healing. As fluid levels decrease fewer dressing changes are required and can be left up to 3 days. Medihoney™ Antibacterial Wound Gel™ can be removed from the wound by rinsing with saline or tap water at dressing change.
